PRESIDENT

DR. LAMAR VEST

The fall semester at Lee College found many new students, new situations, and new circumstances on the campus. One of those new people who would impact all of our lives was the sixteenth President of the Institution, Dr. R. Lamar Vest, who was appointed in May, 1984 to succeed Dr. Ray H. Hughes as President.

Dr. Vest comes to Lee College with a very impressive record of Christian ministry including pastor, state youth and Christian education director, assistant General Youth Director, and General Director of the Department of Youth and Christian Education at the General Offices of the Church of God.

In a recent interview with Dr. Vest, the writer had the opportunity to ask some very interesting questions concerning his stay at Lee College. When asked to evaluate his first semester as President of the College, Dr. Vest replied, "There have not been any great surprises, personally; the workload has had a dramatic increase over that of the other positions, but it has been very rewarding to myself, my wife Iris, and my son Mark."

He went on to say that the prayer of his heart upon learning of his appointment to Lee was that he could identify with the needs and desires of the student body of the institution. He has found the reception given him by the Lee family most gratifying and expresses much personal satisfaction with the rapport that he has established with the student body.

I later asked our President what his plans for the spring, 1985 semester were for the college, and he answered as follows:

> "I am intensely interested in seeing every Lee College student tap his potential as a person who can make a difference in this world. I am committed to discipleship and all that this process involves. The Lee Student Body will be challenged to realize their vast potential in making a difference."

Images abound on the school campus, and so I found it only fitting to ask Brother Vest what image, in his opinion, best fits Lee College as a whole. He replied,

> "The image that best represents Lee College is the student body's move against apathy.
>
> "When we realize that we can change ourselves, then we know that we can change the world. I feel that we are definitely moving toward sincere repentance of our apathy."
>
> "We are seeing more, hearing more and are almost inoculated against our need for God; but we are beginning to realize that we can do nothing within ourselves, but only as God enables us."
> "We are living in the most sobering times of our lives, and I feel that the primary assignment of any occupation for me is to disciple people and help them become effective in the work of Jesus Christ."

Another question that has been secretly hiding in the corridors of many minds on the campus has been, "I wonder how long Brother Vest will stay as President?" This has been very much so since many positions in the church will be coming open during the next assembly year.

However, when asked how long he would stay, Brother Vest gave the answer that all of the students wanted to hear:

> "I have no idea. I do plan to stay as long as I know that I am in the will of God. I don't have plans to leave any time soon."

Dr. Vest has one specific goal for each person that he deals with on any level, and especially the Lee College family while serving as their servant-leader in the position of President.

That goal is to see that each person takes seriously the demands of Jesus Christ on their life. This, he believes, pre-empts all other goals in life.

How have his lovely wife, Iris, and his 12-year-old son, Mark responded to Lee life? Dr. Vest concludes,

"They just couldn't be happier. We have had to establish some definite priorities, since we do believe in the biblical principles of the family and service to them before serving any other group of people."

"Iris shares in 'our' ministry. I never call it 'my' ministry, because it is not my ministry, it is 'our' ministry. God has called and empowered us as husband and wife, and that's just the way we want to always do things."

"Mark loves being identified with Lee. He can hardly wait to come here as a student even though he does have a couple of years to go in junior high school."

We, here at Lee, feel that we are the most fortunate and most blessed college in the world to have a family such as the Vest Family as our Presidential family. The love, generosity, and kindness shown by both Brother and Sister Vest has been most overwhelming to say the least. One thing that was particularly special to each of the students was the hand-signed Christmas cards by the president and his wife delivered to our mailboxes here on campus.

We love you Brother Vest! We really do! We feel extremely grateful to God for sending you our way, and for speaking to us through your anointed leadership here at Lee College.

We appreciate our President and his family for becoming our "family" here at Lee, and for sharing this part of our lives while we are becoming better disciples of the Lord Jesus.

VICE-PRESIDENT FOR INSTITUTIONAL ADVANCEMENT

OFFICE OF INSTITUTIONAL ADVANCEMENT

Lee College has a new office on campus this year—one that President Vest has predicted will make a substantial difference in the way Lee College is seen through the eyes of its various publics.

The Office of Institutional Advancement was established on January 3, 1985. Dr. Paul Conn, a well-known professor of psychology at Lee for over 14 years, has assumed the reins as Vice-President for Institutional Advancement. Under his supervision are the administrative functions of alumni activities, community and public relations, development, recruitment and special college functions. Dr. Conn brings a wealth of experience to this office. He has authored many books that have appeared on the national best-seller list, has received awards for newswriting, and has been very active in past fund raisers for Lee College. His reputation precedes him and Lee is proud to have such a man in this position.

Working with Dr. Conn is Danny Murray, who is Director of College Promotion. Danny's reputation also precedes him—as a fine minister of music at the North Cleveland Church of God for six years. Before that, Danny served Lee College as Admissions Counselor from 1975 to 1979. This time around, Danny travels with the Lee College ensemble, "Harvest," helping to recruit students to Lee College. He is also quite active in other sectors of the office including the coordination of the successful College Day '85. Danny brings his own personal flair to whatever he does in his new position.

Also new to the office is Cameron Fisher. He is Administrative Aide to the Vice-President which entails various duties within the Institutional Advancement office. One of Cameron's primary functions, however, is to see that Lee College is well represented in the local newspapers and that the church publications receive plenty of current Lee material. He also assists in contacting prospective students who are planning to attend and helps coordinate Lee College promotional activities.

Wrapping up the team of new members in this office is Myra May, secretary to Paul Conn. Myra is more than a secretary as she coordinates the busy schedule of our vice-president, types his correspondence, receives his telephone calls and still has lots to do. She is frequently a secretary to more than one, as she handles calls and types correspondence for the entire office. Myra goes above and beyond what is required of her.

In the first few months that Institutional Advancement has been "alive and kicking," there has been a substantial difference in the immediate functions under the vice-president's jurisdiction. Alumni has had some big changes such as the shift in the Homecoming activities away from the Thanksgiving weekend. New Lee College alumni branches have popped up such as the new Cincinnati chapter.

Community and public relations have made Cleveland and the surrounding area aware that Lee College is in this town and that they like it here. Four billboards proclaiming "We're proud to be in Cleveland!" appeared on the local scene in March. Cleveland Daily Banner and Chattanooga Times newspaper coverage of Lee College events and activities was more than triple the amount it was at the same time in 1984.

Perhaps the most productive sector has been development. Eight brand-new scholarships were activated in just four months. The biggest endeavor in development was the Cletus Benton Memorial Fund drive which raised over $50,000 in under six weeks. Established to honor the late Cleveland businessman, the Benton fund endowed five scholarships, began the Benton Business Award and will finance the construction of the Benton Business Center on the Walker Memorial Building's first floor.

Recruitment has been boosted with the addition of Danny Murray to the staff because he brought with him "Harvest," the dynamic college-aged singing group that travels around the country promoting the good news about Lee College. Institutional Advancement also spearheaded HomeWork '85 and College Day '85.

Institutional Advancement's goal is to communicate as effectively as possible that Lee College's goals and programs are known to all of its publics and that Lee is an institution with spiritual emphasis on a quality education!

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

The Lee College Board of Directors is the legislative body of men who determine the school policy. These men have had to make many administrative decisions which have and will affect the lives of students here as well as those of prospective students.

A list of the members of the Board of Directors of Lee College is a gathering of concerned and dedicated Christian gentlemen from all walks of life, who are brought together with one goal—the betterment of Lee College. On our Board, we are quite fortunate to have two state overseers: The Doctor Robert Fisher, Chairman, from Atlanta, Georgia, and New York's State Overseer, the Reverend Richard L. Tyler, Jr. from Manlius, New York.

Other members include four pastors: Pastor Kenneth W. Adams from Norman, Oklahoma, Pastor Robert Daugherty from Baxley, Georgia, Pastor David Poitier from Leesburg, Florida and Pastor S. Lane Sargent from Middletown, Ohio.

Lee's Board of Directors also consists of five very successful businessmen and one prominent attorney. They are Mr. H. Bernard Dixon, the recipient of "The Annual President's Council Member of the Year" Award given at this year's graduation. He is from Cleveland, Tennessee. Mr. Bill Higginbotham from Norman, Oklahoma, Mr. Arthur W. Hodge from Magee, Mississippi, Mr. Don Medlin from Caruthersville, Missouri and Attorney John B. White from West Palm Beach, Florida.

Dr. Cecil B. Knight acts as liaison between the Board of Directors and the Church of God Executive Committee. He serves the church as Third Assistant General Overseer.

These men meet with Dr. Lamar Vest and the Administrative Council during the school year. Each member of the Board possesses a great deal of individual devotion to Lee College and its students. They want to insure the smooth operation of the college and they work behind the scenes to see that this is possible.

The Reverend Doctor Robert Fisher, Chairman of the Board of Directors this year, has prayerfully and dutifully led these men to what has been one of the most successful and optimistic years in the history of this college. Our Board of Directors is always having to stay one step ahead of the crowd and planning for the future. They have done this with the utmost success and it is evident with the record they possess that they will continue to do so.

Lee College owes a great debt of thanks to these men for their undying love and sacrificing devotion to us. We want to say a well-deserved thank you for the work that has been done and the love that has been shown.

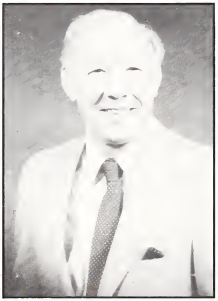
ACADEMIC DEAN



LAUD VAUGHT

Dr. Laud O. Vaught serves as Lee College's Dean of Academics. He plans the curriculum and oversees the faculty. He is a member of the Administrative and Academic Councils. Dr. Vaught's first priority is to see that the students receive an education of high quality and he assures this by running special programs like tutoring and learning centers.

Dr. Vaught received a B.A. and a M.A. at Concord College and Bob Jones University, a Litt.D. at Lee College and he holds a Ph.D. from the University of North Dakota. He attended Carnegie Mellon for post graduate studies.

Dr. Vaught sees communication among administration and students as a weak area, "we need a student area where everyone goes and will read notices put out by the administration. We need to improve what we have before we go any further. There is much respect for quality." There have been some changes Vaught views for the better, such as Campus Pastor, the new computer major and a stronger emphasis on summer school. One thing that pleases Dr. Vaught is the review of the faculty handbook. There will be several changes due to this review.

Dr. Vaught saw this year as "very optimistic. There is a commitment of Lee College to excellence; there is unity among faculty and students. Excellence is a goal for which we are achieving."

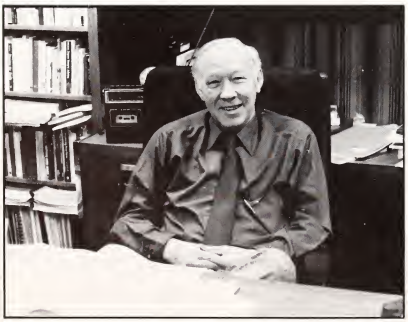
ASSOCIATE DEAN

OLLIE LEE

Dr. Ollie Lee, Associate Dean of Lee College, received an A.B. from Berea College and a Ph.D. from the University of Pittsburg. His duties include registration, coordination of class schedules and room assignments, evaluating transcripts for transfer students in Continuing Education programs and the supervision of the process for graduation eligibility. Dr. Lee holds new responsibilities, as well, upon being named Director of Institutional Research and Planning. These responsibilities include long range planning of budgets and institutional needs, filing reports for SACS, Federal and State agencies and other college affiliations, personnel evaluation, determining methods and systems to provide for evaluation of federal and state grants, and strategy for institutional outcomes assessment.

"My main goal is seeing the needs of students met in the most effective way possible." Dr. Lee also stresses the fact that students should see his office as a service for them. "Students should not be afraid to seek help. Our primary role is not supervisory, but service."

Dr. Lee feels that this year was a preparation for many future things. "We are having a good year. The campus is really moving forward!" He also expressed that he feels "a genuinely optimistic climate on campus, (there is) a real sense of progress and good spirit at all levels."



DEAN OF ADMISSIONS

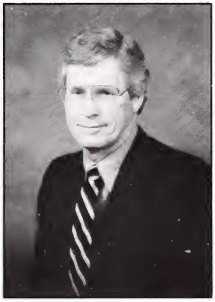
Dr. Butler received his B.A. at Jacksonville State University, his M.A. and Ed.S. at George Peabody College and his Litt.D. at Lee College. Dr. Butler is a Professor of Education and serves as Lee College's Dean of Admissions and Records. His responsibilities include encouraging prospective newcomers, accepting applications and retaining the present students. His role also includes the registration process.

STANLEY BUTLER

"This has been an excellent year." Dr. Butler felt there was a more sincere sense of unity among everyone. "There is a closer tie between students, faculty and administration. All are working for the same cause." Dr. Butler is optimistic because of the gradual increase in enrollment and due to the tutorial programs and academic advising the retention rate is improving. Another reason for his optimism is because ". . . Dr. Vest and Dr. Conn have generated new ideas and initiative to help with recruitment and retention of the students."

Dr. Stanley Butler visits other college campuses frequently and is always anxious to return. "The longer I stay at Lee, the more I see how outstanding our students really are . . . I'm sold on Lee College students."

DEAN OF STUDENTS



PAUL DUNCAN

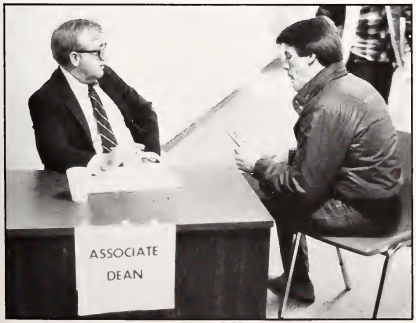
Paul Duncan is Lee College's Dean of Students. Counseling, testing and student activities are just a few of his responsibilities.

Dean Duncan graduated from Mississippi State University with a B.A. and from the University of Tennessee with a M.S.S.W.

Paul Duncan views this year as having gone well. "The new president has brought a great deal of enthusiasm. He was well received by the students." Dean Duncan sees students this year, as compared to students a few years ago, as more liberal. "Our students reflect the background and culture they come from. There has been a change in the church and therefore our student body has changed." He also sees this year's students more interested in making good grades and receiving good jobs after college than the students a few years ago.

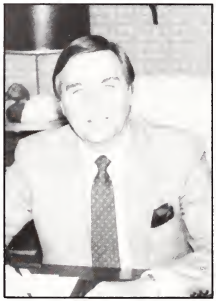
Regardless of all his responsibilities, Dean Duncan is viewed by many students as the one behind all disciplinary actions. "It bothers me a great deal . . . most of my time is spent on positive activities." There are the same behavioral problems at Lee as there were a few years ago, but Dean Duncan stresses ". . . (the problems) are quite small compared to the good things. I would really be open to suggestions as to how the Dean of Students Office could be of more assistance to the students."

Dean Duncan sees this job as what God wants him to do in his life. "I see this as an opportunity to work for the Kingdom." Dean Duncan describes his work as "sometimes pleasant, sometimes unpleasant, always challenging."



DIRECTOR OF DEVELOPMENT AND ALUMNI

Gerald Redman serves the college as Director of Development and Alumni. As a member of the administrative council, Mr. Redman helps to get new projects planned, funded, and completed for Lee College.



GERALD REDMAN

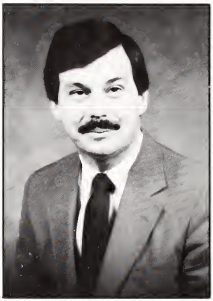
Among other tasks, Mr. Redman is the Director of the school's Alumni Association. This Association is composed of over 17,000 alumni in state chapter organizations. Increasing educational costs have forced Alumni to consider methods for better coordinating chapter activities. Special attention is being given local chapters. The Director of Alumni Affairs, Redman aims toward a goal of many local groups, all working and contributing annually their fair share toward institutional growth.

The betterment of Lee College's campus facilities is another of Redman's tasks. By doing this, the students can get the best education their money can buy anywhere, at any price.

Redman plays an important role linking our local churches and the college. He is very visible at the General Assembly, making people aware of the great things happening at Lee. His theme song during the year could be "On the Road Again" as he travels and ministers in churches across the nation. It's great to have such a professional person out and around representing our school in such a fantastic way. His efforts are felt directly here on campus as they fund a good portion of all the constant improvements. Praise the Lord for dedicated men such as Gerald Redman.

—Holly Roush

DIRECTOR OF BUSINESS AND FINANCE



DAVID PAINTER

One of the more familiar faces on the Lee College campus is that of Mr. David Painter. Mr. Painter is the Director of Business and Finance here at Lee College. Mr. Painter received his Masters degree in Business Administration, at the Middle Tennessee State University. In addition to this he is also a Certified Public Accountant.

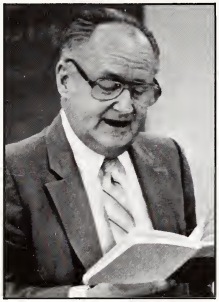
As Director of Business and Finance, Mr. Painter is the one that oversees the massive task of budget control. It seems everyone wants their requisitions to be given first priority, with no exception. The computers in the Business office and the more than competent staff help immensely in this area by handling the countless transactions and keeping track of all pertinent information.

Mr. Painter feels God has placed him here at Lee—a college with a Christian environment dedicated to Christian works and services. He could, without a doubt at all, get a better paying job elsewhere in the business community, but none with better fringe benefits! While working here, he feels he is able to serve Jesus Christ and he can also promote the gospel.

Mr. Painter intersects with students and staff on a regular basis and does quite well at it. Since he acts as personnel officer of the college, he is well known to the staff. He is available to the students on this campus who need him, and plays an active role in his church and community. With a record Mr. David Painter has going, he will be a familiar and appreciated face on the Lee College campus for a long time.

DIRECTOR OF
CHRISTIAN SERVICES

Charles Beach is the man in charge of the Christian Services Offices. Included in this office is the witness training involving many different areas, including door-to-door witnessing, nursing home ministry, prison ministry, hospital ministry, child evangelism and visitation to shut-ins.



CHARLES BEACH

Dr. Beach does more than just instruct the students in the techniques, he actually accompanies them to the various places of evangelism. He is usually out and about daily with Lee students going into homes, jail and hospitals.

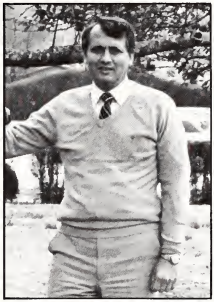
Dr. Beach also finds time in his schedule to teach in the Language Arts Department. His courses include French and English for non-native speakers.

Beach adds spice to the faculty and staff at Lee College. He always has a kind word for all those around him. He feels a sense of urgency to reach the unsaved and unreached in today's world. With men such as Dr. Beach, the graduates of Lee who have had evangelism training under his supervision are able to face the largest of tasks.

We appreciate Dr. Beach's example. He is the man who leads the entire campus in prayer before chapel services. He is the man who takes each need seriously. Psalm 1:1 states, "Blessed is the man who walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful! But his delight is in the law of the Lord, and His law doth he meditate day and night." Truly, Dr. Charles Beach is such a man.

—Lori Jordan

DIRECTOR OF
CONTINUING EDUCATION



RAY H. HUGHES, JR.

Ray H. Hughes, Jr., is the man behind the Continuing Education Department. This Department was formed for those persons wishing to complete college programs, yet for some reason are unable to attend college. The Department has been quite effective in providing an alternative for such students.

This program is structured so as to allow students to pick their own time and rate of study. Since most of the students are fully employed at jobs in their communities, Continuing Education provides an ideal service for those working people still interested in higher education. The cost is less expensive than regular college tuition, and being a fully accredited program, the credit earned is recognized at any other college or university in the country.

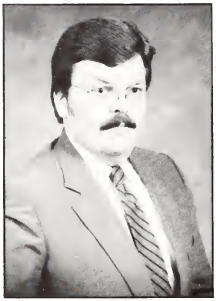
Ray H. Hughes, Jr., is the chairman for the Continuing Education Department. It takes someone with the desire to see his job as a ministry in this position, and Mr. Hughes has been the one to do this with an utmost in excellency.

Mr. Hughes and his office staff have helped to make the Continuing Education Department one of the fastest growing departments at Lee College. The course offerings are quite wide ranged including Religion, English, Education, Mathematics and many others.

The success of this department and its graduates have been brought forth by Mr. Ray H. Hughes, Jr., who is the backbone of the Continuing Education Department.

DIRECTOR OF HOUSING

Heading up the area of Housing and Residential Life is Mr. Larry Pemberton. As the director of Housing he oversees the assigning of dorm rooms to new and returning students and handles regulation of all the dorms. As the director of Residential Life, he deals with the spiritual, social, academic and physical life of the students as they relate to the residence halls.



LARRY PEMBERTON

Larry has the almost impossible task of seeing that Lee College makes dormitory life as pleasant and as comfortable as possible. Although in a college setting it is not possible to grant all the liberties which students sometimes enjoy at home, he seeks to provide them with a close alternative.

Another thing that Larry has done this year was to take on the task of being a dorm supervisor. This is the first time in the history of the college that a member of the administration has taken over this position. You can be sure that after this year he will be better able to evaluate dorm life. The men of Hughes Hall particularly those living on the second floor have spared no expense in giving Larry the vital experiences that are necessary to fully understand this thankless position.

In addition to being on full-time staff here at the college, he also finds time to take his comedic ministry on the road. He has come up with a humorous character by the name of Rufus T. Shagnassty. Larry uses this act to warm up the crowd and then hits them with the truth of God's Word. Thus far he has been very successful and will be doing many youth camps and teen seminars this summer as a result.

DIRECTOR OF FINANCIAL AID

BILL WINTERS

As a part of Student Services, Mr. Bill Winters, the Director of Financial Aid plays a vitally important and popular part at Lee College. The Financial Aid Office is dedicated to finding a way for any student or potential student who wants to come to Lee to get the financial means necessary to attend Lee. This is made possible through loans, grants and scholarships.

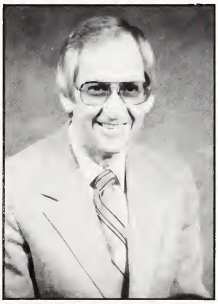
Bill Winters and his office staff, in determining an applicant's need for financial aid, utilizes the financial need analysis of College Scholarship Service. In order to continue to receive federal funds the college is required to certify that the student has made satisfactory progress.

Mr. Winter's office is located on the third floor of the Higginbotham Administration Building. It is here where over 75% of Lee's students receive some sort of Financial aid, whether it be Pell Grants, College Work Study Programs, Guaranteed Student Loans, or National Direct Student Loans, to name a few.

The Financial Aid office is willing to help students in every way that is possible to them. This office is one dedicated in serving the students.

It takes the dedication and loyalty of people like Bill Winters and his office staff who see their jobs as a ministry in the Kingdom of God, to make Lee College the fine institution that it is.

DIRECTOR OF ACADEMIC ADVISING



R. B. THOMAS

This year found Dr. R. B. Thomas taking on two different roles literally becoming a man wearing two different hats. His first title as always was Director of Academic Advising. This year however he had the distinct honor and privilege of becoming the Campus Pastor at the appointment of President Vest.

When wearing the Academic Advising hat Dr. Thomas is in charge of what is probably the most frustrating of all tasks known to the Lee College administration, that of correlating each student's academic program and organizing advising times throughout preregistration and registration itself.

His other role as Campus Pastor gives him the responsibility of both pastoral counseling and preaching during our daily chapels. Many times he has challenged us in chapel while preaching the Word, and preaching it powerfully. Also, he has met the needs of many students and faculty by ministering to them in private counseling sessions. R. B. Thomas is truly a man who has a burden for young people. He both understands their problems and meets their needs.

In some ways, these two offices are closely linked. Dr. Thomas oversees the students' academic and spiritual welfare. When he advises or counsels a student, he sees the whole picture. He takes into consideration both the spiritual and the mental. If you ever need him, and you don't know who he is, look for the man with the smile running between the Higginbotham Administration Building and the Conn Center.

—Lori Jordan

DIRECTOR OF COUNSELING AND TESTING

RON GILBERT

Mr. Ron Gilbert, Director of Counseling and Testing, is the man to see if you are confused about where you are going and what you are to do, or what occupation may lie ahead of you to make you happy.

Mr. Gilbert is a professional counselor who works closely with faculty members to assist in different guidance programs. If there are serious problems of a psychological nature, assistance is available from public agencies.

Under Mr. Gilbert's job description falls the area of testing. He coordinates a comprehensive standardized testing program designed to assist students in knowing more about themselves. Individual testing is also available in the Counseling and Testing Center.

He and his office staff will counsel with you, give you tests to show where your interests lie, and interview you for jobs. They will also keep in touch with you for at least a year and a half after you have received a job.

As if his duties at the counseling center weren't enough, Mr. Gilbert is currently working on his Ph.D. degree from the University of Tennessee at Knoxville where his emphasis is in Counselor Education. He also managed to lend his own brand of humor to various projects on and off campus. He is a competent musician, skilled at both drums, harmonica, and kazoo and is occasionally found in some obscure place pouring out a heart-felt rendition of his own "Lee College Blues." So, if you need a little guidance, or maybe just a good laugh, Ron Gilbert is the man to see. —Lori Jordan

DIRECTOR OF SPECIAL SERVICES

Mrs. Lucille Walker is the director of Special Services. This is a Title IV Program that centers mainly around students who are potentials for dropping out because of difficulties they may be having in classes. Special Services has a very good retention rate. Of those who avail themselves of Special Services, a large percentage remain in school with newfound hope.

LUCILLE WALKER

The office of Special Services offers a variety of collegiate services designed to increase the opportunities students have to successfully complete their college education. Participants in the program are selected on the basis of personal, economic, academic, physical and cultural factors. Each student, after becoming a part of the services and special opportunities provided by this department.

Some of the services provided include a variety of educational assistance, from reading labs to personal tutors. Tutoring is a major part of Special Services. Students with difficulties in any given subject from music to mathematics are able to have personal or group tutors. This enables the student to understand any of the problems he may be having.

Under the leadership of Sister Walker who graduated with a B.A. from Scarritt College and an M.A. from George Peabody, she sees her job as a special ministry in the kingdom of God. With an attitude such as that, it's no wonder the Special Services program has prospered as it has.

DIRECTOR OF STUDENT TEACHING

JIMMY BILBO

Dr. Jim Bilbo is Lee's Director of Teacher Education. Dr. Bilbo feels that teaching techniques have a lot to do with how well a student will perform. The typical lecture technique is not used as much anymore. Visual aids, such as films, slides, videos, and models are proving to be more effective in helping students grasp what's being taught.

Although an educator by profession, Dr. Bilbo labels himself a farmer at heart; he enjoys raising cows and horses and listening to country music. He has to remember quite a way back when he was not at Lee. He attended Lee as a student for three years and has been on the faculty for 24 years, moving through the ranks to where his present position is as Director of the Teacher Education Program.

DIRECTOR OF

HEALTH SERVICES

Mrs. Hilda Andrews is the lady who leads the Health Services Center. She is a full-time registered nurse and provides limited medical and nursing care for mildly ill students. These services are available beginning with the first day of classes each semester.

Nurse Andrew's first objective is to give first aid to all students, and medical treatment on a limited basis with emphasis on the dormitory student who is away from home. Assisting Mrs. Andrews is her full-time secretary, June Jones. Ms. Jones keeps records of the students and their visits to the nurse.

This year's first semester found the campus with a virtual epidemic of the chicken pox, which Nurse Andrews handled quite well. If things become serious, she advises the students of physicians in the local area, and if students are hospitalized, she visits to make sure everything is fine with them.

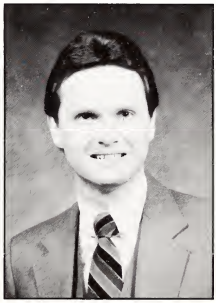
HILDA ANDREWS

COMPTROLLER

Mr. Keith LeCroy is the Comptroller of Lee College. He is in charge of anything and everything having to do with accounting records, be it accounts payable, accounts receivable, payroll clerk, NDSL clerk, senior bookkeeper and junior bookkeeper.

Mr. LeCroy is a Lee College graduate, which finds him having rather close ties to the school and the affairs therein. With the increasing use of computers in the business office, Mr. LeCroy is helping the school immensely.

Mr. LeCroy enjoys his job and looks forward to the time to come spending it here at Lee and fulfilling his ministry in the kingdom of God.



KEITH LeCROY

REGISTRAR

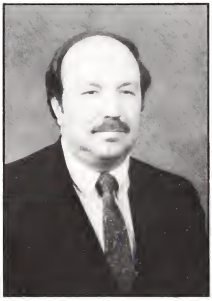
Registrar, Wanda Griffith, working very closely with Dr. Stanley Butler, Dean of Admissions and Records, keeps a record of all the applications, transcripts and class schedules keeping a constant eye on efficiency. Streamlining the registration process from several hours to a couple of minutes by using preregistration and computers.

Mrs. Griffith is married to Robert Griffith, an Assistant Professor of Mathematics here at Lee. She is always willing to help with any problems students may have, whether they be authorizing transcripts, checking on GPA's, helping in the registration process or just learning new methods and techniques on the computer.

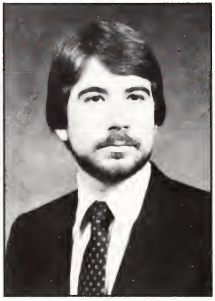
Lee College is very fortunate to have a Registrar who is so willing and able to handle those problems and tasks which arise in her everyday schedule, while at the same time making Lee College a better place to attend.

WANDA GRIFFITH

The Department of Behavioral Sciences

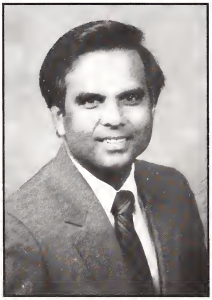


B. Balzano

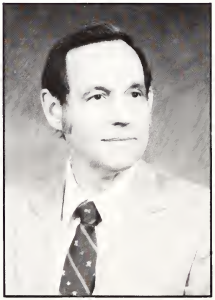


R. Fisher

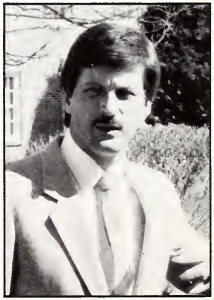
K. Mundy



D. Rahamut



W. Snell



P. Conn

During the past few decades, the interest in social and Behavioral Sciences has experienced a tremendous boost. People have begun to study about themselves. They want a better understanding of their inner emotions, reactions, and of the implications that the cause of these have in history.

This past year, Bill Balzano, chairman of the department, received his Ph.D. from the University of Alabama. He says now that he's a doctor, people expect him to act differently. He claims he's still the same person he always was, but students have noticed a slight swagger to his walk.

Bob Fisher, determined not to be outdone, began his Ph.D. program at the University of Tennessee at Knoxville. He says that being a teacher had caused him to see the classroom experience in a whole new perspective—and has made him a much better student. Mr. Fisher got married this past March and students have noticed a change in his walk, too—there's a spring in his step.

Dr. Paul Conn, although busy with his responsibilities as Vice-President of Institutional Advancement, still managed to teach a class in the department. Dr. Conn enjoys the challenge of his current position, but he plans to return to full-time teaching eventually.

Karen Mundy carried the ball for Sociology this year while Murl Dirksen taught in the People's Republic of China. Dr. Dirksen is due back in August and Ms. Mundy will be relieved to pass his share of the load back. Now, if she can just finish her dissertation. . . .

History continued its march, led by its two patriots, David Rahamut and Dr. Bill Snell. When he wasn't extrapolating on American History, Mr. Rahamut spent time on the evangelism trail conducting revivals. Dr. Snell stayed a little closer to home continuing his local history column in the CLEVELAND DAILY BANNER.

The Department sponsored the HOME-WORK '85 conference on Christian parenting which was held this past April. Along with departmental personnel, noted speakers such as Kevin Leman and Florence Littauer were brought in to speak on the trials and the triumphs of trying to raise Christian children in an unchristian world. Families from all over the South came to participate and the conference turned out to be a great success.

The number of majors in the department of Behavioral and Social Sciences has been steadily increasing. Christian psychologists, sociologists and historians are greatly needed in our society, and the goal of this department is to produce high-quality graduates who can minister effectively in today's world.

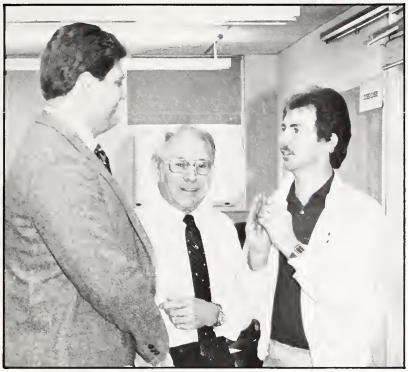
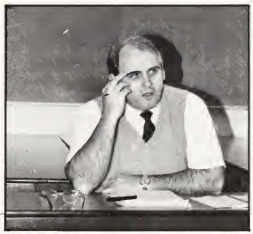
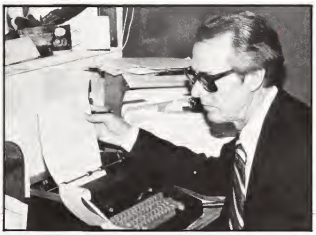
ACADEMICS







Faithful to its claim as a Christian college, Lee College graduates are provided with a workable and applicable understanding of the Bible with a minor in Religion. This minor comes as a result of the required eighteen hours of classes taken within the Department of Bible and Christian Ministries with an added knowledge of the Old Testament, New Testament, Christian Thought and Christian Ethics.

The Department prepares students to minister as pastors. Pastors of the day are now called upon to serve in several areas other than just preaching. It is for this very reason that the Department encourages its students to complete a core of courses which equips them to be effective in public communications, as well as in sermon delivery. Since the church of today, more than ever before, needs an effective teaching program, the Department also focuses on the preparing of church workers and encompasses areas such as teaching in the Sunday School and Christian Education.

The chairman of the Department, Dr. Don Bowdle, spent this year studying and teaching at Yale University in New Haven, Connecticut. On leave for two years, Winston Elliott is helping to set up a library at a school in California. While out west, Mr. Elliott and his wife plan to visit their son who is ministering in Hawaii.

With two departmental members missing, the teaching duties had to be redistributed to the remaining teachers—Dr. Hollis Gause, Dr. Luther Painter, Dr. Martin Baldree, Mr. Elmer Odom, Mrs. Beatrice Odom and Mr. Jerome Boone—who bore up bravely under the load. Chris Thomas, an instructor from the Church of God School of Theology, assisted the department by teaching Greek, the torture that is usually administered by Dr. Bowdle. Through it all, things have been kept in order and running smoothly by Dr. John Sims who has served as acting chairman in Dr. Bowdle's absence.

Newly added to the department this year was Bill George, a former teacher at Lee who returned from California where he had been working on his doctorate at Fuller Theological Seminary. Fluent in Spanish, Mr. George brings a new dimension to the department and has been involved in developing the new program in Intercultural studies.

The Department of Bible and Christian Ministries is committed to producing effective church leaders who understand the need of all Christians for quality education in our beliefs and in living a Christian life in a secular world.

The Department of Business

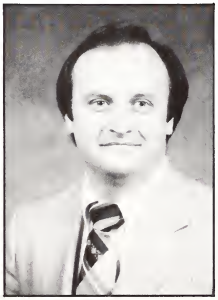
W. Morrissett



D. Thompson

A. Burns

Evaline Echols, chairperson of the Department of Business at Lee College, realizes the importance of the need for Christian Businesspersons and therefore strives to prepare students for a life in a competitive career world. At Lee, there is a strong emphasis placed on the ethics of business as a means of success. This department has supported this ethical theory, and it is quite successful in presenting the needed curricular information in a Christian perspective.

By studying about God and being around His people, Lee College students are better prepared to set up a table of moral convictions in their life by which to judge their decisions. Today's laws are demanding more of a moral role in business. More of an emphasis is being placed on ethics and ethical standards. A business should operate with the Christian standards and ideas of serving one another's needs. Business also provides a unique opportunity for people to meet each other—in today's world it's hard enough to love someone you know and even harder to love a stranger. That is business as it should be from a Christian perspective—people caring for each other's needs.

In the last several years, the Business Department here at Lee has had several students to receive top awards in competition with other students from around the United States. With such a committed and knowledgeable business faculty, a business degree from Lee College will not guarantee success, but it will most certainly increase the odds.

The importance of teachers in today's society is evident now more than ever in history. With difficult societal problems, chaotic classrooms and many teachers leaving the classroom, the Department of Elementary Education and Secondary Education, Health and Physical Education are becoming increasingly important.

Realizing the existence of such problems, these departments are committed to producing educators who will be prepared to face such turbulent times and challenging classrooms of the future.

The Department of Education at Lee College is made up of a reputable body of educators who produce effective teachers who are competitive in the contemporary job market. Despite the problem of a tight market, Lee has good results in placing students in teaching jobs.

Dr. Morris Riggs, Chairman of the Department, is concerned with providing the best education prospective educators can receive. He is also a Professor of Science Education in the Science Department. This man is extremely busy and yet he still finds time to be involved in the North Cleveland Church of God Music Department.

Dr. Jim Bilbo is the Director of Teacher Education at Lee. He is the man in charge of helping those prospective teachers obtain a job in the teaching field. At heart, Dr. Bilbo is a farmer and that is exactly where he can be found in his spare time—on his farm between Cleveland and Benton.

Mrs. Debbie Murray came to Lee College as an instructor in 1980. Mrs. Murray is frequently seen on Lee's campus. This year she was a faculty-member of the Lee College Symphonic Band where she played the flute. She also sings soprano in the college recruitment group "Harvest" of which her husband Danny is the director. Mrs. Murray adds a touch of beauty to the Education Department.

Another spark of beauty to this department is Mrs. JoAnn Higginbotham.

She is an instructor in Physical Education and is the sponsor for the Flames Cheerleaders.

Dr. James Lemons, associate professor of Education, came to Lee in 1975. This year he endowed a scholarship for those men interested in pursuing education as their chosen profession.

If bowling, tennis, golf, or archery is your chosen physical education course, then Mr. Steve DuBose is the man who will help you perfect your skill.

Dr. Vernon Harmeson, Associate Professor of Education, is the Director of Lee's Media Center. This center along with Dr. Harmeson has been an invaluable source of help for Lee's communication majors.

Dr. Eugene Christenbury, Professor of Education, is a man admired by all who meet him. He has been at Lee College since 1967.

Mrs. Mary Ruth Stone is an instructor in Education. She is a lady who has a threefold role by being involved in the Language Arts Department, Special Services and the Education Department.

Mr. Herbert Cline is an Associate Professor of Physical Education who came to Lee College in 1982. He is also the Head Basketball Coach for Lee's Men's Varsity Basketball Team—the Flames.

Mr. Ron Evans teaches Golf and Racquetball here at Lee. When he is not involved with his classes, he is busy assisting Coach Cline with the Varsity Men's Team as Assistant Basketball Coach.

Mr. Jack Souther, Coach of the Lady Flames and Assistant Professor of Physical Education, came to Lee College in 1983 from Ohio. He led our Lady Flames to National Competition this year where they captured the Title NCCAA Champions and it was there where he was named NCCAA "Coach of the Year," an honor of which everyone at Lee is proud.

The Lee curriculum includes the most progressive educational theories and acquaints the students with various teaching methods. Classroom training with the student-teacher program provides invaluable experience as the student begins to test the acquired knowledge. There is a clear distinction in the importance of a Christian philosophy and methodology in teaching. Of course, Jesus Christ was the greatest teacher who ever lived. He taught both the simple and complex truths of the universe. He taught love and compassion. And He taught us to be an example. An example that was difficult to imitate, but one with the guarantee of success.

ACADEMICS

The Department of Language Arts lies at the heart of the liberal arts program at Lee College. Headed by Dr. Robert Humbertson, the department serves the campus college-wide with its General Education Core offerings, and it offers a full range of courses leading to a variety of majors and minors within the department.

For the General Education core, the department offers the student choices from fifteen hours of courses in composition and twenty-two hours of literature drawn from general literature courses at the sophomore level and from English, American, and World Literature at the junior level.

In addition to providing choices for the General Education Core Curriculum, the Department of Language Arts provides a variety of courses for preparation of majors and minors within the department. The bachelor of arts degree is offered in Communication, English, French, German, and Spanish. Courses in Developmental Reading are provided for students diagnosed as having reading deficiencies or who need enrichment in vocabulary and comprehension.

Personnel within the department bring a diverse and rich background to their classes. Dr. Robert Humbertson has served on the Lee College faculty since 1949. His training and experience in the field of communication make him an effective promoter of that major. Dr. Charles Beach is a widely acclaimed linguist who brings the flavor of various cultures into his classroom. Dr. Sabord Woods is respected by students and faculty alike as evidenced by his receiving the Excellence in Teaching Award 1985.

Dr. Carolyn Dirksen has spent this year on leave from Lee College while teaching at Henan University in the Republic of China. Mrs. Ruth Lindsey is a much-appreciated teacher of English Composition. As a former missionary, she also plays an integral part in the lives of our students who are interested in World Missions. Dr. Ellen French is another former missionary who brings a beautiful "missionary spirit" to our campus. Mrs. Janet Rahamut is famous for her interesting devotions in her composition and literature classes.

Drs. Raymond and Eleanor Barrick bring to us fine credentials in the foreign languages: namely German, Spanish and French. Mrs. Mary Ruth Stone does double duty at Lee College. She is a Reading Specialist working in both the Language Arts Department and the Special Services Program. Finally, Mr. Paul Putt joined this department this year filling in for Dr. Dirksen while she is on leave. He is a welcome addition to our faculty.

Of the eleven members of the department faculty, six hold earned doctorates and two are presently enrolled in doctoral programs. Each of the others hold the master of arts degree with additional course work beyond the master's level.

Personally committed to the lordship of Christ and to the ministry of teaching here at Lee, each member of the Language Arts faculty offers his or her professional expertise to the students of Lee College.

ACADEMICS

The Music and Fine Arts Department of Lee College under the leadership of Dr. Jim Burns provides a variety of course options. There is no doubt and no denying that music is a part of everyone's life. Most people play some instrument, sing, or whistle with a fair degree of success.

Lee College trains musicians and sends them throughout the country—attitudes are changing and musical tastes are being broadened as churches become receptive to a wide variety of musical praises, such as are heard and performed here on campus. Many church people, once comfortable only with quartets or volunteer choirs, are found enjoying themselves at cantatas, performances with full choirs and trained orchestras.

The department offers ensembles, such as the Lee Singers, the Ladies of Lee, Campus Choir, Lee Players, Lee Handbell Choir, Lee Symphonic Band as well as many others.

Music is a medium of communication. To communicate well, the musician must develop his knowledge and skill in the field. To the Christian musician, it is a grand opportunity that each note, sacred or secular, may communicate the emotions of his soul—in this case, a soul saved by grace.

The faculty members who teach in this department are well known for their fine musicianship in their respective fields. The department includes the Chairperson, Professor Jim Burns; Associate Professors Bertha Gugler, David Horton, Roosevelt Miller; Assistant Professor Philip Morehead; and Instructors Virginia Horton, Philip Thomas, and Michael Brownlee.

These teachers provide students an opportunity to prepare for advanced study in music; studio teaching careers; teaching music in public or private schools; performance and service careers as ministers of music; and to provide musical experience, performance outlets and academic training for all interested college students.

In the visual arts the department offers each student an opportunity to become aware of his artistic heritage and the role of the arts in today's society. The Art Appreciation course is also offered to all students who wish to use it as part of the Fine Arts requirement in the general core.

No one will doubt the significance of this department on our campus. We have all been blessed by the various groups on campus; we are proud of the way they represent us in many other cities and countries.

ACADEMICS

The Department of Natural Sciences and Mathematics at Lee College combines biblical and spiritual principles enabling the Christian student the attainment of a thorough knowledge of scientific skills. Students of this department are provided an excellent learning opportunity.

The faculty of this department realize that with each new advance in wrongdoing such as environmental destiuction that a new attitude in reconstruction must be developed. Our science and mathematics department contends that it is not the discovery of truth that causes the problem but, instead, the application and value judgments made concerning newfound truths. By looking for truth and new answers to future problems, we learn about God.

In spite of the great technological advances of our age, in spite of new breakthroughs in the fields of medicine and computer technology, Lee's well-staffed Natural Sciences and Mathematics Department still feels the only answer to man's problem is God's Word.

The department has been very successful with students entering graduate programs: one student entering a Math Ph.D. program, two entering medical school, another entering a Pharmaceutical Doctorated program and many others.

The Department has turned the greenhouse facilities over to the Science club which has produced excellent quality plants.

Dr. Lois Beach, Chairperson of the Department, is quick to remind us that the alumni of the department are the ones who keep the faculty aware of the changes in the field of medicine and health needs. When she is not teaching and assisting students, Dr. Beach can be found taking exercise walks down Ocoee Street. Another familiar sight is she and her husband, Dr. Charles Beach, also employed by the college, eating in the school's cafeteria.

Dr. Clifford Dennison, a science professor, always has his hand into a different project. In his spare time—not necessarily leisure time—he builds houses and flies para-planes.

Milton Riley and his wife are expecting their first child this summer. He is also very involved with the greenhouse which operated a display area on Ocoee Street to offer their gorgeous plants for sale; this was quite a profitable endeavor.

Dr. Robert O'Bannon is the man who brings Science and Religion into perspective. He is also very involved in the planning of a Nursing program. Most students know Dr. O'Bannon because he is the man who is brave enough to have Sadie Hawkins at his farm every year.

Dr. Morris Riggs plays a dual role at Lee. He is a Science Education Professor as well as the Chairman of the Department of Education. He is actively involved with his church as well as his profession. He is a member of the Crusader Choir at the North Cleveland Church of God. The person who carries the tenor section? Why—It's Dr. Riggs!

Dr. J. L. McPherson is interested in the science industry. He spent many years working at DuPont. He is an associate professor of chemistry who came to Lee in 1969.

Dr. Roland McDaniel as well as being a Math Professor is involved with an area that he has seen as a wide open mission field in the United States. During the past summers he has taken a group of concerned Christian young people to the Indian Reservation in Gallup, New Mexico. This is a fantastic area of ministry.

Mr. Ronald Harris, Associate Professor of Science Education, came to Lee College in 1966. He has been involved in various hobbies—one of which was to remodel and refurbish his home. Mr. Harris has a son attending Lee and a daughter who is a graduate of Lee.

Mr. Robert Griffith, an Assistant Professor of Mathematics, is married to Lee's Registrar—Wanda Griffith. This couple is one of America's sports fanatics duo. They love to camp, ride motorcycles, fish and hunt. It's no wonder they always look so healthy.

SPECIAL SERVICES

The Department of Special Services is under the direction of Lucille Walker. This group of talented individuals handles a host of special programs designed to assist students in achieving academic goals and maximizing total learning development. These programs involve the cooperation of the departmental faculty but provide services extending beyond the regular academic offerings of each department. The services offered may include special sections of regular academic courses as well as non-credit academic assistance. —Julie Matheny

P.F.M.

P.F.M., also known as professional food management roared into its second year of delicatessen delight here on the Lee College campus, offering readily identifiable foods which are both pleasing to the eye and tempting to the palate. Under the culinary administration of Jimmy Lee, P.F.M. managed to leave students with an acquired taste that was always the rage of campus conversation.—Loren Markle

MUSIC SECRETARY

Kathy Benefield is the full-time secretary of the Music Department which happens to be one of the busiest offices here at Lee. She not only handles all the work assigned to her by Department Chairman Jim Burns, but she manages to take care of a multitude of other problems as well. Kathy is another one of those people here at Lee that does a job far above what is expected and never complains.

LIBRARY
PENTECOSTAL RESEARCH CENTER

The Lee College Library is an essential element in the academic well-being of most students. Education, supposedly, is what we're here for—to read, to study, to learn. A library is part of this process. Book reports, critiques, and term papers are nourished here among the reference shelves, card catalog, and periodical indexes. These resources are available to make information more accessible and make the student's life a little more pleasant.

Mrs. Frances Arrington heads the operation. She assumed the position of Head Librarian in 1977. Mrs. Arrington has seen a lot accomplished during her tenure at the Lee Memorial Library. She is busy making plans to move into the new Pentecostal Resource Center this summer.

Miss LeMoyne Swiger is the Lee College Library Periodical's Librarian. She is the one who hears the voices crying in the wilderness saying, "But you've just got to have the 1923 issue of The Zimbabwe Mission Magazine.

No one could survive English Composition without Miss Barbara McCullough's lectures on Bibliographic Instruction. As Reference Librarian, she answers innumerable questions, supervises the circulation personnel, searches on-line data bases, and orders many materials through interlibrary loan.

Mrs. Jean Goforth, Technical Processes Librarian, makes sure we get to use the materials ordered by the library. She is responsible for everything that happens to a book between its arrival and the time it is shelved for our use.

Miss Alisa White, Reference Librarian, handles a variety of reference questions as well as oversees the operation of the library's special collection: The Pentecostal Research Center.

These ladies, along with the rest of the library staff, work to make sure that we get through college with the benefit of a good resource center. Their work will be somewhat easier when they move the library into the new facilities.

SECURITY

Writing parking tickets to watching freshly poured concrete are merely two jobs which fall into the daily routine of the Lee College Campus Security. GREAT IS THE LORD!

"Great is the Lord, and Worthy of Glory!
Great is the Lord, and worthy of praise!
Great is the Lord, I lift up my voice,
I lift up my voice! Great is the Lord!"

—Micheal W. Smith, 1983

Holding to the promise that God lives in the praises of His people, the Lee Singers have proclaimed the glory and majesty of the Lord everywhere from the 1984 World's Fair in New Orleans, to the lovely scenery of New England this year.

Being the premiere choral group of the Church of God as well as Lee College, the Lee Singers have represented the church, the school and most of all, our Great God in almost every imaginable setting this school year. Some of the activities have been the World's Fair, the Pentecostal Fellowship of North America, the Romanian Pentecostal Fellowship of Detroit, the 101st Airborne Division at Fort Campbell, KY, as well as the usual crowded schedule of south and southeastern United States. A trip to New England is planned for after school and the Singers are presently scheduling a world tour for the summer of 1986.

An exciting event for the group was the release and official presentation of Ron Gilbert's book A Little Light in the Darkness which tells the story of the Russia/Romania trip during the summer of 1983. The Singers sponsored a special chapel service on October 5, 1984 showing slides with testimonies from the students who were privileged to take Jesus Christ to these communist-controlled people. The book is great!!! There is really just no other way to describe it.

A very significant factor of being a part of the Lee Singers is the spiritual formation which is always emphasized, but especially so this year. Their Kentucky-Ohio tour in early January became a great time of reaping the harvest of souls for the Master, and thus obeying the command of Jesus to "go and win."

We have and will continue to be represented with the best in musical excellence and spiritual excellence in the Lee Singers, our friends.

1984-1985 Ladies of Lee

LADIES OF LEE

Dr. Roosevelt Miller led the Ladies of Lee to another successful year of ministry. Performances included chapel, convocation, Fall Festival, and singing at many area churches. Ladies of Lee took many tours including North Carolina with a stop at Camp Lejeune Marine Base, and a ten day journey through Florida. The choir is preparing for an exciting venture to the Holy Land in June. The Ladies have taken the Word of God many places and they will expand the ministry to Israel as another work for the Lord.

—Holly Roush

Choir members entertain Kathy Benefield.

The Campus Choir, under the direction of Dr. David Horton, is the largest performing group on campus. Along with the awesome size of the choir, they have an awesome sound that rings out the message of Christianity loud and clear. The Campus Choir ministered with their voices at Fall Festival, convocation, and local churches. The highlights of the year were the musical presentations Press On and Then Came the Morning. The Campus Choir was proud to be represented by Lydia Culpepper in the Parade of Favorites. Miss Culpepper placed as 2nd runner-up and won the Academic Award.

1984-1985 EVS

EVANGELISTICS

Director Darrell Hepburn and the Evangelistic singers ministered through music like no other performing group on campus. Their unique sound is produced from choir members representing many states and countries. During the fall semester, EVS toured the Virginia area, seeing many blessings received. The spring semester also saw the outpouring of God's promises in their tour through New York. For the summer, EVS is planning to travel through Florida and tour the Bahamas. It is a blessing to hear this choir perform under the obviously true anointing from God.

SYMPHONIC BAND

1984-1985 Symphonic Band

The Lee College Symphonic Band, under the direction of Howard Petersen, made its premier performance a lasting memory. Mr. Petersen, a new teacher at Lee, is enthusiastic about the potential the band department has. In the beginning of the year the band had less than 25 members but after a membership drive they doubled their performers and began. The band played at convocation, chapel, the Presidential Inauguration and they are touring area schools in mid April. The Lee College Symphonic Band is off to a marvelous music ministry.

—Holly Roush

The men of Alpha Gamma Chi had a banner year once again. Highlights included: sponsoring the largest campus concert, Russ Taff; organizing three successful skating parties; laying the ground work for an annual campus softball tournament; and on a more serious note the Chi men spent an entire day in Cherokee National Forest cutting and delivering a winter's worth of firewood to six needy Cleveland families. A renewed spiritual emphasis was placed upon the men under the direction of Chaplain Perry Keyt. Numerous prayer meetings including a joint gathering with members of Upsilon Xi, lead Chi men to a greater understanding of the Lord's will for them both as individuals and as a collective body. President David Simmons said, "The Lord has been more evident in our meetings now then the whole time I have been in Chi thus far."

Chi sponsored three skating parties.

DELTA ZETA TAU

1984-1985 Delta Zeta Tau

DZT showed their school spirit by sponsoring the Homecoming Parade.

The ladies of Delta Zeta Tau once again involved themselves with many events and services for the campus and community. The women in red began "seeking to serve" the campus from the start of the year with their annual party welcoming all new girls to the Lee Society. Each month following they sponsored a major event. October brought in the entertaining Creature Feature and in November the ladies of DZT contributed to the Cleveland community by compiling Thanksgiving food baskets for needy families. "Your the Inspiration" was the theme for the Campus Valentine Banquet DZT co-sponsored with the men of Alpha Gamma Chi. Easter brought on the special egg-hunt for the faculty's children and the spring season was launched with the annual Spring Fling. The ladies of DZT enjoy serving their school and community while being a part of a very close sisterhood. They had frequent group outings ranging from morning devotions and picnics to bowling. They closed out the exciting year of '85 with a formal banquet honoring their seniors. President Vanessa Carey summarized DZT's year with this phrase, "We seek to serve first God and then mankind through these activities. I believe we have accomplished these goals."

Creature Feature: a DZT tradition.

SIGMA NU SIGMA

"Charity Never Fails" is a motto taken to heart by the ladies of Sigma Nu Sigma. This year the girls in blue sponsored a wide range of campus activities including a Freshman Punch Party, Valentine Love lines, and a documentary film on contemporary Christian music. Sigma also sponsored the "Truth Concert," which was a highlight of the college's year. In addition to campus services Sigma also benefited the community by visiting the local nursing homes, hospitals, and the Bachman Home for boys. In a new venture of service, Sigma has sponsored a young Southeast Asian girl. Providing funds for her clothing, food, and education. President Glenda Peters feels that Sigma is moving ahead toward an involvement in campus and community services.

Beau Phil Morris spoke at Sigma's chapel.

Sigma sponsored Truth in the fall.

UPSILON XI

1984-1985 Upsilon Xi

Sadies Chase Day turns the tables.

The men of Upsilon Xi, Lee's oldest social service organization once again set an example for the school promoting academic excellence, scholarly pursuits, Christian fellowship, and the giving of service. The club sponsored its first Funland Fantasy and its twenty-third Sadie Hawkins, both of which were successful campus favorites. Upsilon once again uplifted the student body with its devotional feature for Fall and Spring convocation, "Reflections." They also led the way in a campus wide effort to clean up a local cemetery and continued to help insure Lee's future through their Jeffrey Graham Harvard Scholarship Fund. In this year's Parade of Favorites, the men in Black and Gray were very proud to have their Dream Girl, Melinda Higginbotham, capture the title of Miss Parade of Favorites.

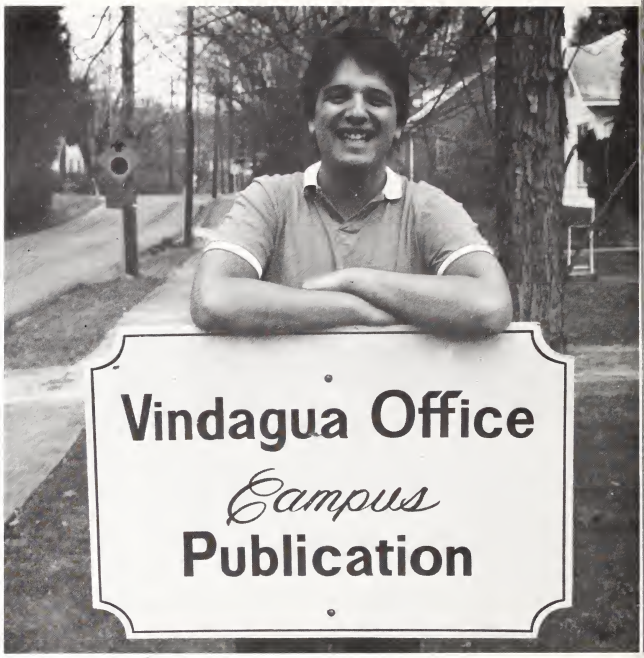
"THE VIEW FROM HERE"



Jeff Kallay, Campus Life Editor

The VINDAUGA is more than an inanimate object. It is an organism born of such wide ranging emotions as love, hate, frustration, determination stupidity and relentless devotion to a seemingly unattainable goal.

If you've never been a part of a yearbook experience, it is nearly impossible to comprehend the insanity required to undertake such a project. It requires many nights of hard work turning into many early mornings of hard work, keeping account of some 3,500 photographs of students and faculty, only to discover that honored faculty member was ill on picture taking day and devising numerous complex configurations of photos for the printed page, then compiling accurate information to form an interesting commentary.

All of this must be done, making sure that every student, faculty member, administrator, organization and campus event is going to receive more attention than any other. The aforementioned personalities are constantly taking time out of their schedules to remind the staff of this. After handling these problems, the mistakes made during the process must be defended.

Two mind sets are evident: Those who came, did and left, and those who endured until their organism was manifested. After reading this—if you still don't understand, you probably never will. If you do understand—you need to drop by the VINDAUGA house and fill out an application and help us. Because by the time this book had been received by the masses, the new beast will have already been conceived.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

1984-1985 Student Government Association

The 1984-1985 school year was the first year in the history of the Lee College Campus that the Student Government Association was governed by an all female staff.

President Robin Tirey, Vice-President Pam Harris, and Secretary-Treasurer Teresa Kumler made sure the year was definitely not uneventful. SGA sponsored such happenings as Homecoming, Parade of Favorites and a special chapel service honoring President Vest, with the theme being "You're the Best, Dr. Vest!"

All of these events meant a lot of hard work by many dedicated and devoted persons. This group of people demonstrated this sacrificing attitude and brought to the students of Lee another exciting year.

The Pioneers for Christ is an evangelistic club that adheres to the motto "Saved to Serve." This club gives students at Lee College excellent opportunities to minister on a "local" level by reaching out to the community and churches. Weekend "invasions" allow members the chance to witness in different churches.

PFC's local ministries include high school devotions, Kid's Klub, Jail ministry, hospital visitations and nursing home services. This club is much more than a group for Christian fellowship, it is an organization that is vitally involved in the overall ministry of the school.

SERTOMA

1984-1985 Sertoma

Proclaiming that "Sertoma is more than a bookstore," President Hal White and fellow club members created and sponsored a variety of campus activities. In the fall the beauty of the Southern Appalachian mountains were enjoyed by many of the Lee population who sojourned on the "Gatlinburg Getaway." Over $300 in cash was given away at the club's second annual Gong Show. One major highlight for the group was sponsoring Sandra Ramkissoon in POF. The next time you are buying or selling your books, remember these activities and what a versatile group Sertoma is.

450 FRESHMEN INVADE LEE IN THE FALL

Excitement, fear, freedom, and a vast array of other emotions are felt by almost every freshman who arrives at Lee in the Fall. The Freshman is seeking identity and acceptance from both upperclassmen and 449 peers. Fighting the stereotypes put on him by upper classmen, he attempts to be an individual, yet ironically he ends up striving to fit into a Lee College mold. Arriving a week before classes begin, the bewildered freshman is whirled to orientation, picnics, parties, tours, academic counseling, and testing. Between this heavy load he tries to socialize, impress the opposite sex, learn who is who, what is where, and decipher the abbreviations for the numerous campus buildings. If a freshman at Lee can master all of this in one week, he is in for the most exciting and memorable four years in his life.

The men of Alpha Gamma Chi sponsored the first concert of the 1984-1985 school year on Friday, September 21 in the Conn Center. The Russ Taff concert was one that Lee College had been anticipating since his concert the previous year. Expectancy and anticipation were the feelings as the sensational Russ Taff stepped onto the stage and sang hit after hit.

The concert was one of praise to the Almighty as Russ ministered and uplifted hearts and souls. Songs like "Inside Look" and "Walls of Glass" received their usual applause while "I'm Forgiven," "Trumpet of Jesus," and "We Will Stand" received standing ovations.

Russ is not only a singer, but a messenger of God as well. The concert was full of scriptures and testimonies that Russ felt would benefit God's work. The results were seen in the tremendous altar service that followed the concert.

Many will remember and few will forget the impact that Russ Taff made on the campus of Lee College. The Lord was truly with him.

RESIDENTIAL LIFE WEEK WAS SUCCESSFUL

"Open Dorms and More" was the theme of the second annual Residential Life Week. The brainchild of Larry Pemberton, Housing Director, RLW is designed with the dorm student in mind. The purposes of RLW is to promote pride in dorm living. Open houses were on Tuesday and Thursday. The "Roommate Game," a major part of the week assists roommates in learning more about each other. Every dorm resident should know how much their roommate's mother weighs, what their roommates' favorite vegetable is, and how many pairs of socks their roommates own. Without the floor, dorm, and campus wide Roommate Game playoffs the answers to the above questions would never be vocalized. This year the representatives of Nora Chambers took first place with Hughes Hall representatives placing second. R. A. Jeff Kallay was quoted as saying, "I believe that Residential Life Week is a major event in the school year. It takes the hard work of the Housing staff to insure its success, and I am glad that I am a major part of that hard work."

On October 12, 1984 a new era in the history of the Church of God and Lee College began. Dr. R. Lamar Vest was inaugurated as the president of this great landmark in Cleveland, Tennessee. This was executed during the official chapel hour on that day, and many city officials, along with church officials as well as special guests from neighboring institutions were in attendance for this festive event.

The special musical guests for the event were the Lee Singers.

Dr. Vest in his address committed himself to each person connected with Lee College. He covenanted himself to growth in God, the Word of God, the family of God, and the institution which is now in his responsibility. "This is the greatest undertaking of my entire life," really encapsulated all that our dear leader had to say, and He vowed himself to be all that God would have him to be for the College as well as the Kingdom.

We salute our President, Dr. R. Lamar Vest.

SADIES

The year was 1962
When all of it began;
Instead of boy chasing girl
It was woman chasing man.

This trend continued through the years
And is with us still today;
The girls are after a blue rag doll
Its like human keep-away.

The chase continues for hours on end
The girls never seem to rest;
Its hard to believe that the woman you loved
Has turned into such a big pest.

There'll be no doubt who's the winner
As the sun finally goes down;
For all girls will suddenly be smiling
And each guy will be wearing a frown.

This scene happens each year
Around the time they call SADIES;
So be careful you guys
'Cause its the Revenge of the Ladies!!

RENEWAL IN THE FALL

Morning Speaker, H. Loran Livingston, Pastor, Central Church of God, Charlotte, North Carolina
Evening Speaker, Kenneth Hall, State Youth and CE Director, Alabama

The week of October 14-19 was a week that will be long remembered by the majority of the Lee College family as a time of refreshing, edification, and spiritual feeding on the things of God and His Word. The excitement mounted as the week of convocation drew nearer and nearer, and as the people of God began seeking Him, they found that He would not disappoint them.

Along with the great music that the Lee College campus is known for, was some absolutely exceptional preaching; some of the best ever for this week of revival services. Coming from Charlotte, North Carolina, Pastor Loran Livingston preached on the theme of "Let us therefore fear . . ." (Hebrews 4:1) for each of the five morning services. A heavy spirit of conviction settled upon each of us as we entered the sanctuary and prepared to hear from the Lord. The Word of God, which was so skillfully planted in our hearts and minds, will be long remembered, and we are grateful indeed to Brother Livingston for taking time out of his pressing schedule to be with us.

The evening services were no exception, either. Brother Kenneth Hall, state Youth and CE director for Alabama preached with great zeal and inspiration to the capacity congregation each evening in the Conn Center.

God did many wonderful things in this week of meetings and is continuing to favor the people of God at Lee College.

—Phil Hoover

Morning Speaker: Loran Livingston

Evening Speaker: Ken Hall

Music is a wonderful form of ministry and worship as was exemplified on October 11 in the Conn Center by the exciting group from Mobile, Alabama—TRUTH. The ladies of Sigma Nu Sigma were the sponsors of this wonderful evening of praise and worship.

Led by their director, Roger Breland, Truth performed songs from their two latest albums, "Second to None," and "Keeper of My Heart." Songs like "Jesus Never Fails," "Sing Unto Him," and "Majesty" were enthusiastically received by the congregation as well as the new material that was introduced including "People Need the Lord," "Wounded Soldier." Among the favorites of the evening was "How Deep Is the Water" by Truth's men sextet.

The evening climaxed in a dynamic altar service with God refreshing the lives of those who sought Him.

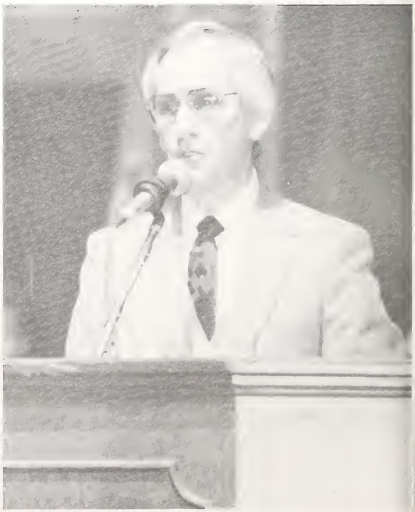
CHAPEL SERVICES TAKE A NEW FORMAT

The Lee College students should appreciate an Administration that offers the opportunity to worship the Lord four times weekly. Weekday services, though short, are refreshing and uplifting. Students enjoy a variety of chapel programs ranging from drama, to musicals, to world renowned speakers, all of which delivered the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Campus Pastor R. B. Thomas showed the message of the importance of discipleship, which was expressed by students in smaller discussion groups on Fridays. Under the anointing of the Holy Ghost, Dr. Vest spoke at the Sunday night services. Students anticipated and received the fulfilling of the spirit in these gatherings. As always, music played a vital role in the services. The congregation enjoyed such inspirational and favorite choruses as "He Is Jehovah," "This Is the Day," "It's Beginning to Rain" and "Holy Ground." Of course the chapel services would not be complete without the college benediction . . . "Now let the words of my mouth, and the meditations of my heart, be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord my strength and my redeemer." Psalm 19:14

—Brett Schneider



Campus Pastor Dr. R. B. Thomas

Dr. Vest always shared a practical message.

Worship in singing is a major part of each chapel.

Dr. and Mrs. Horton's extraordinary performances are always inspirational.

Many clubs and organizations sponsored chapel services.

The symphonic band brought a new style of music to the chapel service.

In the tradition of the season, the lovely ladies of Delta Zeta Tau brought out their masks and costumes to sponsor "Creature Feature." A capacity crowd filled the Old Auditorium, which created a mystique setting for the evening. With dazzling effects and a ghostly opening number created by Huffstuttler's X-tra Special Effects Company the show began. During the film homemade refreshments and concessions were sold. Intermission saw the costume contest with first place going to Randall Parker. One hardworking DZT gentleman was quoted as saying, "Creature Feature is fun, but untold hours of time spent in preparing to insure that Creature Feature is a success, and I am very honored to be a member of a club that is willing to spend an untold amount of time just to see other people have fun."

—Jeff Kallay

Ronald Reagan, a.k.a. Randall Parker, took 1st place in the costume contest.

HOMECOMING 1984

Homecoming 1984 was the end of a long Lee tradition: celebrating Homecoming during the Thanksgiving holiday. The theme for this year's Homecoming was "Remembering Your Past, Preparing Their Future." This year saw a record number of alumni and fans participating in the three day festivities. Alumni attended class reunions, club functions held in their honor, the pep rally, the parade, the homecoming and a host of other events.

The Paul Dana Walker Arena was filled to capacity as Lee fans rejoiced with the Flames as they defeated the Emory University Eagles. Halftime witnessed the crowning of the new queen, Miss Cheryl Lewis. Last year's queen, Miss Valerie Dixon returned to Lee from CBN University where she is currently working on her Masters Degree in Television Programming and Production. The crowd stood as Miss Lewis took her traditional walk around the arena's floor. Cheryl, who is an active student on campus, is a member of PFC and a little sister for Rotaract. Her beauty and grace truly enhanced the Homecoming celebration.

The Conn Center was sold out for the Fall Music Festival that evening. All of Lee's musical groups performed along with a number of featured soloists, including Eva Mae LeFevre, an outstanding gospel singer. The program's finale was a reunion of A. T. Humphries and the old touring choir.

MISS PARADE OF FAVORITES

Melinda Higginbotham

Miss Melinda Gayle Higginbotham represented the men of Upsilon XI. Miss Higginbotham, a 20-year-old junior psychology major, performed a humorous monologue for her talent presentation. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Higginbotham of Norman, Oklahoma.

1st RUNNER-UP TALENT AWARD

Debbie Wesson — Freshman Class

Miss Deborah Ruth Wesson was chosen to represent the freshman class. She is 18 years old and from Decatur, Alabama. For her talent, she presented a medley of songs entitled "Wish Upon a Star." A music major, she is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. R. Stephen Wesson.

2nd RUNNER-UP ACADEMIC AWARD

Lydia Culpepper — Campus Choir

Miss Lydia Ruth Culpepper, a 20-year-old junior music major, represented the Campus Choir. She is from Rockledge, Florida and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Culpepper. For her talent presentation, she performed from George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue."

1985 PARADE OF FAVORITES

Lights, glitter and excitement contributed to the success of the 1985 Parade of Favorites. The sweat, work and tears of this year's director, Miss Carmen Gibson developed a pageant that will be remembered for years to come.

The Master of Ceremonies, Danny Murray kept the audience alive with jokes throughout the evening, while surprise visits from "Willie Nelson," "Goober" and "Porter Wagonner's cousin" brought tears of laughter to each member of the audience.

The theme "Puttin' on the Ritz" was vividly portrayed by each contestant through talent, beauty and personality. However, the contestants were judged on much more than the audience saw on the evening of the pageant. Formal interviews, academics and extra-curricular activities played a significant part in the selection of the 1985 Miss Parade of Favorites.

The high point of the evening.

The academic and social year at Lee College seems to always be crammed full of activities and events designed especially for enjoyment, relaxation and spiritual benefit. Heritage Week, February 4-8, 1985 was no exception at all.

It was a real delight to welcome the Reverend Dr. James A. Cross back to the Lee College campus as our special guest speaker for Heritage Week this year. Noted for his uniquely rich bass voice, Dr. James Cross reminisced, reminded, and reached out to each of the faculty, staff and students of the College in great love, and humble appreciation. Having served as president of the Institution in the 1960s Dr. Cross has a special feeling for Lee College and its people. He opened the week by telling the new president, Dr. Vest, that "you will never have better folk than what you have here at Lee College right now." The entire week was very enjoyable and very inspiring for the whole campus. Dr. Cross preached timely messages of admonition concerning our faithfulness to God, our work for Him, and the rewards that await those who complete the race ahead. It was as though great buckets of love, appreciation and sincerity were being dumped out on each person sitting in the Conn Center during those three chapel services.

On a more humorous note, Dr. Vest, while introducing Dr. Cross commented that, "When I hear Dr. James A. Cross speak, I think that God must speak with his voice. Surely God sounds like Dr. Cross." Of course, many people are assured of that same possibility.

We are grateful for Dr. Cross and his faithfulness to God and us. We will always remember his deep bass voice, and his genuineness that was more than adequately communicated to us during Heritage Week.

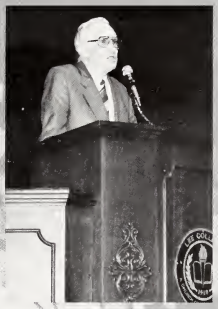
SPRING CONVOCATION, 1985



Floyd McClung, Sr.

Douglas LeRoy

Spring Convocation is a time of renewal, rededication, and refreshment as we examine our relationships with God and our fellow man. This year was no exception. Reverend Floyd McClung, Sr., who is currently ministering in Amsterdam, Holland, spoke to our hearts each morning from the Word of God. He had a way of cutting through the nonessentials to get right to the heart of the matter: having a one on one, private, personal relationship with God the Father.

Reverend Douglas LeRoy, Missions Information Coordinator, drew on his extensive experience working with young adults to minister to us where we were. He made contact with our hurts, how we feel about life, God and our future. These men set the pace for renewed commitment throughout the rest of the semester.

2nd Place winner—Wild Bill and the Psychedelic Four

Dr. O'Bannon represented the faculty.

Gong Show offered $225 in prizes.

Chuck Berry did not emcee Sertoma's second annual Gong Show, but someone funnier did: Matt Willets. The audience was vicious but Matt handled them with the ease of a professional.

This year's Gong Show was unique in that each of the twelve acts sang. Some sang well; others did not. Those that did not receive the fatal gong by at least one of the three judges: Bill George, Lena Barber, and Bob Johnson. Each performer had the difficult task of gaining the approval of not only the judges, but the audience also, for many times the panel of judges were persuaded by the aggressive, loud, and demanding audience chanting "Gong them!! Gong them!!" The participants hoped that the judges would favor them with high scores because the higher the score meant the higher each prize. Jackie Robinson's show stopping love ballad earned her first place and $100. Bill Lee and the Psychedelic Four earned second place and $75. Soloist Jeremy Beaver ended up in third place with $50. Sertoma also gave away $200 in cash in door prizes to the audience.

Second Edition performed.

Hats off to Derby Day Winners

The competition was intense.

Hats, games, and over $4,000 in prizes made this year's Derby Day one of the grandest ever. The men of Rotaract prepared for the event months in advance. The festivities began as Rotaract little sisters Cheryl Lewis and Brenda Platt began drawing numbers for the numerous door prizes donated by local merchants. Next came the games. Four teams competed in the hilarious hijinks of balloon bursting, orange passing, cream pie scarfing, blind balloon gathering, and the grueling egg dropping. Alpha Gamma Chi, under the leadership of Captain Ron Williams held the lead throughout the night and captured first place trophy. After a triple run-off, Mark Grimes and his Southeast Asian/bamboo lampshade won a $50 American Savings Bond in the hat competition. Derby Day offered both participant and audience the opportunity to win big.

FLAMES

The Lee College Men's Varsity Basketball team, the Flames, returned to the 1984-85 basketball season ready for action. After having already spent one year in Lee's new gymnasium facilities—the Paul Dana Walker Arena—the returning team members had a "feel" for their home court.

The newcomers to the team were some of the top athletes from their respective areas with such impressive statistics as leading scorers, leading rebounders, All-State Team members and Most Valuable Players.

The members of the Flames had to once again learn the techniques of playing together as a team. Practice every day brought about tension and feelings of uncertainty. But, through the difficulties and hard work, the team emerged unified and the Flames' spirit was rekindled and burning brightly again.

Despite the Flames' record, they provided the fans with several thrillers that epitomize the phrase "it's not whether you win or lose, but how you play the game." The Flames always play to win and do not let up until the last second is spent.

There was a fairly good turnout of fans at most of the games played at home. The only problem was that most of the Flames fans never experienced the team's finest moments due to the fact, many of the games were played on the road.

Under the superior leadership of Head Basketball Coach, Herbert Cline and Assistant Basketball Coach, Ronnie Evans, the Lee College Flames brought to us another season of exciting basketball action.

Coach Herbert Cline came to Lee College in the Spring of 1982 as Head Basketball Coach. When he was interviewed then by the VINDAUGA as to what his plan for the future of Lee's Athletic Department, his response was that a well-rounded program be established with the athletes participating portraying a "Christian image."

This futuristic goal of Coach Cline has been achieved with the greatest of effectiveness. He has gotten the student's support of the basketball team by getting the athletes involved in the classroom, in the chapel and in campus activities.

The Flames have ended another season and with the support of the campus are already on their way to a successful 1985-86 basketball season.

LADY FLAMES NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

The 1984-85 school year saw the Lee College Lady Flames and Coach Jack Souther in a triumphant year. They ended their season with a 19-13 final record.

The most rewarding part of the season was when the Lady Flames traveled to Cedarville, Ohio and beat the number three, two and one seeds in the National Christian College Athletic Association Tournament to claim the NCCAA national championship. This was attained by the win over top-seeded John Brown University, 74-71.

The tournament saw Coach Souther named NCCAA Coach of the Year. This is an honor to him and the Lee College family. This is Coach Souther's second year at Lee and he has done a splendid job with the intramural sports program.

The Lady Flames are a group of ladies who are bound together by a spiritual unity which is one of the greatest assets of the team. Coach Souther has led the team both athletically and spiritually. Each game that the ladies play is preceded by prayer, both collectively and individually. The Lady Flames have learned as an entity what it means to grow in the Lord and be disciples of Jesus Christ. They have experienced working together, comradery and competition. These are just a few of the feelings and emotions a team such as this shares.

Lee College is so very proud of our Lady Flames. They have represented us to their fullest capacity to which they were quite successful. They also have exemplified what a team truly is by taking their individual abilities and talents and unifying them into a team.

The Lady Flames had several key players that contributed to make the year a lesson in relentless drive. Wendy Rudolph, Cheree Long, Bridgett Parks, Pam Evans and Tammy Dalton were superb in this year's season. Other underclassmen players who were pacesetters were Karen Richter, Tammy Studer and Rosemary Wilcox.

Under the superior leadership of Coach Jack Souther the future success of the Lady Flames, looking brightly which should be added, has just begun. We at Lee College are looking forward to an exciting 1985-86 winning season for the Lady Flames.

Under the direction of Seniors Brenda Platt and Cindy Dunnam, the 1984-85 Lee College Flames Cheerleader Squad rekindled the Flame spirit. With four returning girls from the previous year, the group performed with a more polished expertise.

Joining the returning members, Brenda Platt, Cindy Dunnam, Carol McCullough and Kim Sheets, were the new recruits Joanie Tyndall, Aundria Hendricks, Tammy Burgess and Cheryl Hastings who earned their positions through Fall tryouts.

Practice began two months before the season with a heavy schedule of learning new cheers, old favorites, partner-stunts and pyramids. The cheerleaders kept up this pace for two hours a day, five days a week into the season. The effort was worth the results as this year's squad excelled in both sideline chants and cheers and floor routines. Favorites included "We've Got Rhythm, We've Got Soul" and "M-O-V-E."

A group of guys were honored with the position of cheerleader gentlemen. They assisted the girls in practice and crowd motivation.

Sponsor JoAnn Higginbotham has been a tremendous help and backbone for the squad for the past five years. The girls will be traveling to Knoxville this summer to attend the National Cheerleader Camp held at the University of Tennessee. This will only refine Lee College's already outstanding cheerleading squad.

GOLF

Golf at Lee College is a fun game, a game that has a competitive nature in order to enjoy it. We have at Lee intercollegiate competition, and this is good, but I think we are trying to build a sport that will be a leisure routine the rest of your life. We have some outstanding students from our golf team this year.

Tom Rodenkirch-Captain	Ron Morris
David Ard	Paul Spell
Harold Cochran	Vince Stone

Next year we have three good prospects plus Alex Bivens will be returning after being off the team for one semester.

We stress the character building through competitive golf and expect our athletes to be Christian gentlemen both on the links and through everyday life. We believe that you must train yourself to have pride in your ability to concentrate and plan your strategy for each match and put that plan on an even keel never getting excited about a good shot or mad about a bad shot, always looking ahead to the next one.

The Lee College golfer will try to do the same. Excessive excitement over a good shot or anger over a bad shot takes your mind off your objective which, of course, is the next shot. Pressure in golf is very good for us as long as it doesn't create tension. It is good to apply a certain amount of personal pressure in order to perform well. Once you hit the shot there is nothing you can do about it so think immediately and positively about the next one. Golf is such a slow, mellow game that it gives you plenty of time to think. That can be its beauty or danger depending on the choice you make.

We believe at Lee that our Golf Team exemplifies a Christian attitude and golfing ability of which we can be very proud.

A new face on the Lee College campus this year was that of the Varsity Tennis Team. In a quest to improve and expand its athletic department, Lee has developed a varsity tennis team. The men leading this endeavor are team coach-Paul Duncan, Dean of Students and assistant coach-Paul Conn, Vice President of Institutional Advancement and Professor of Psychology at Lee.

The team had its beginning after a large degree of interest was shown in a campus-wide intramural tennis tournament that was held last spring. At the beginning of the present academic year, both Dean Duncan and Dr. Conn felt that they should find out what the degree of interest would be among the students for putting together a tennis team of college varsity status. After a high degree of projected interest was expressed at a meeting for interested students, undertakings for the formation of a tennis team were put into motion. The idea was then presented to the Lee College Athletic Committee, who immediately granted their approval.

Both Conn and Duncan feel very strongly about the importance of providing a strong and diversified athletic department for the students.

As for the future of the program, both Duncan and Conn believe that the team is only the beginning of a complete tennis program that will continue to expand.

Scholarships, better uniforms and materials and an expanded tennis program seem to be in the planning stages. Hopefully, if the expansion receives wholehearted support, this will prove to be not only an extension of the athletic department, but an extension of the entire student body.

The words of Daniel Webster speak to the purpose and program of the Church of God education. He said, "If we work upon marble, it will perish; if on brass, time will efface it; if we rear temples, they will crumble into dust; but if we work upon immortal minds, and imbue them with principles, with the just fear of God and love of our fellowmen, we engrave on those tablets something that will brighten to all eternity." Through its colleges, the Church seeks to provide that proper combination of teaching from the sciences, from the arts and from the Christian ethic. We salute those young persons who are dedicating themselves to this noble pursuit.

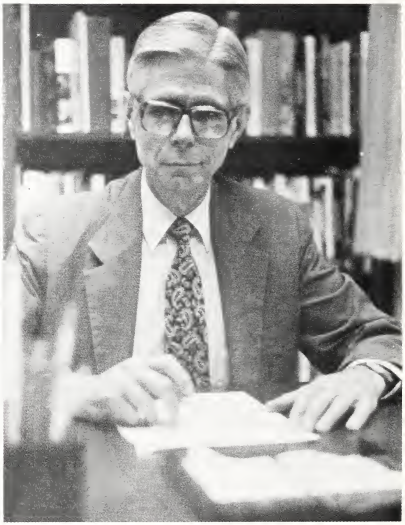
A SPECIAL TRIBUTE



Dr. Robert Humbertson

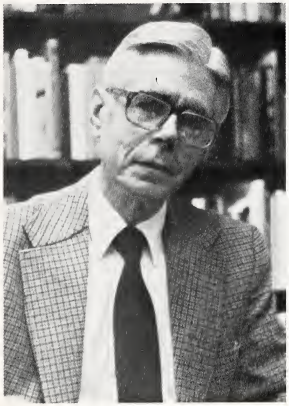
1928-1985

VINDAUGA Editor, 1945

Professor of Speech, 1965

ROBERT HUMBERTSON—SERVANT LEADER

Robert Humbertson
Senior Quote 1945 VINDAUGA



VINDAUGA Sponsor, 1983

Department Chairman, 1977

"Our success in life will be just about what we want to make it."

Some persons spend their lives in dog-eat-dog competition, striving constantly to lift themselves by putting down their fellows. Others are content to perform their expected roles mediocrely if not perfunctorily. A few individuals, however, conceive life far differently: they see themselves as disciples of Jesus Christ, and they view their personal, social, and professional roles as means of service to their Lord. They recognize in their fellows the stamp of their God's image, even if it be barely discernible; they perceive the true value and purpose of man; therefore, they serve GOD by serving MAN according to HIS principles.

Robert Humbertson was such a man. To read a summary account of the professional, social, and religious activities of his life is to see a model servant leader in motion—one who indeed served others according to the principles set forth by his Lord.

"Bob" Humbertson served through keen, dedicated intellect. That he reached the pinnacle of academic success as an undergraduate is demonstrated by his selection as valedictorian at Lee College and his achievement of First Honors at the University of Maryland. Later, he earned the Master of Arts Degree and the Doctor of Philosophy Degree at Ohio State University. Yet never once did he stoop to intellectual display; rather, he viewed his intellectual achievement as a means to more effective service.

Dr. Humbertson served his Lord and his fellowmen through several administrative roles. He was during much of his life an academic administrator—whether Registrar and Dean of Students or Chairperson of the Department of Language Arts. He also held pastorates and served as chaplain of the Church of God Home for Children. Such roles he saw as means of enabling other people to function more effectively—whether parishioners, students, or faculty peers.

During his middle-adult years Dr. Humbertson extended his service to civic affairs. He rose gradually to the position of Lieutenant Governor in the Optimist Club, clearly because he embodied the essentially humanitarian ideals of the Optimist Creed as he assisted the underprivileged, offered opportunities for growth to young people, and strove to make his city and his region a better locale through an elevated social and moral climate.

He served in relatively humble ways often or in behind-the-scenes roles and ever with true humility of spirit. He never considered himself too important to attend to little things—like making coffee for his Sunday School class and his prayer group, seeing to the convenience of those with whom he served at Lee College, or maintaining an office which was a model of efficiency. Many of his important but non-public duties never resulted in his name's being put forward—such as that copyediting which he did so expertly and for which he received only modest compensation or his sponsorship of student organizations such as the VINDAUGA. He, moreover, considered each student a "special case" for whom he must assure the truly best possible development through his careful attention to academic and personal detail.

Dr. Robert Humbertson taught us how to live and how to love through his unassuming service. He indeed dedicated his sterling intellect and precise skill to the loftiest purpose imaginable—honoring his Lord through signal service in every sphere of his life. He will long remain a model for those who continue his work. We are challenged to emulate his life of selfless expenditure of talent and energy for the kingdom of his Lord.

—Dr. Sabord Woods

The final word.

Not everyone realizes how much work is involved in producing a book of this size. There is no way any single individual could do it alone, and I wish to gratefully acknowledge those who faithfully dedicated their energies and precious time to this publication.

There is one person who took on more than his job description entailed and without whom what you hold in your hands would not have been possible. This person is Mark Evans whose title was Assistant Editor, but to me and to the staff his title was Co-Editor. My eternal thanks and gratitude are extended unto you, Mark.

A word of thanks is in order to the following people:

Advisors - Robert Fisher, Alisa White
Director of Photography - Bob Rodgers
Campus Life Editor - Jeff Kallay
Assistant to the Campus Life Editor - Kim Denham
Classes Editor - Holly Kay Roush
Sports Editor - Michelle Boudousquie
Design Consultant - Brett Hayden Schneider
Secretary - Sharon Harper
Photographers - Ozwaldo Carranza, Doug Brown, Brian Huffstutler, Theodore K. Morrison, Stanley Earls
Research Writer - Phil Hoover

Administrative Assistant - Betsy Calkins
C.W.S.P. Maintenance Engineer - Joe Comer
Typists - Sharon Harper, Kim Ross

There are several others who contributed to the final production of this book for various reasons and a special thanks is extended to them: Dr. Paul Conn, Danny Murray, Gary Weber, Olan St. John, Jerry Dennison, Maranatha Studios and Don Parvin, THE CLEVELAND DAILY BANNER, and the Church of God Publishing House.

I hope you find the 1985 VINDAUGA worth the wait and that the memories herein portray yours as well as our view from here.
